

Article- 'The Earth Itself Is Causing Climate Change' Is In Two Of John Wiessner's Books

Precession of Earth's Axis [3D CG Animation+Music]

The precession of Earth's axis, also called "luni-solar precession

This half-way shifting phenomenon is what is actually causing what activists describe as "Climate Change".

Ten-thousand or so years ago, the colossal Ice Sheet had ascended back north into what is today Canada, that is, after the mile-high ice had scoured-out and formed the Great Lakes, and its melting had also formed Niagara Falls and the Hudson River Valley. When the Ice again descends south 10,000 or so years in the future, skyscrapers in New York City, Chicago, and Seattle will inevitably be crushed under the massive frozen weight.

President Trump was absolutely right to get the U.S. out of the Paris Climate Accord. The Accord is another American taxpayer rip-off/canard where the Obama Administration was to initially put-up 1 billion dollars to get the Paris Agreement started, and the accumulated funds, over time, would then go to Third World Countries, which would be another form of worldwide Redistribution of U.S. Wealth (Socialism) at the American taxpayers' expense. And of course, other countries would hardly pay anything at all, just like the U.S. is currently supporting the UN (paying 24% of its budget) while many other allied countries remain deadbeat contributors, and just like NATO, where the U.S. pays 2.1% of our immense GDP and Germany (a prosperous country) only pays 1.1% GDP as one prime example.

And let's not forget that according to the bogus Paris Climate Agreement, the major polluters of the world, China and India (not to mention Russia), will get to increase their CO-2 emissions for the next decade and a half, while the U.S. is expected to decrease our emissions, thus giving a significant economic advantage to the world's biggest polluters over our already-handicapped U.S. industry.

So yes, the Earth is 9/10th responsible for its own Climate Changes, and mankind causing Climate Change is at best a 10% hypocritical ruse being perpetuated by countries that either don't pay their fair share, or don't follow the rules that the world community expects only the U.S. to follow.

Ever since the Post-WWII Marshall Plan of 1948, the U.S. has been subsidizing France and Germany in the UN, in NATO, and in massive annual trade deficits. It's time for countries like allies France and Germany to pull their own weight, and pay their own freight, including the Ukraine War, where America is paying three-quarters of the expense, and the entire European Union, only around 25%!

In conclusion, Communist China has publicly stated that the CCP wishes to replace the United States as the world's dominant economic and military superpower by the year 2040. The American Climate Change Activists are actually aiding and abetting the Chinese Communists, who very cleverly manufacture the windmills, the solar panels, along with most of the EV car engines, and sell them to the United States, causing Americans to subsidize our own gradual self-destruction. All the while, the Communist Chinese are simultaneously monopolizing worldwide petroleum production and distribution with strategic alliances with Russia and Saudi Arabia, and in the process, the CCP is annually also building hundreds of new coal plants, and apathetically contributing to most of the world's carbon emissions.

Americans need to stop being so naïve about Climate Change, which has us authoring our own self-destruction. During and after WWII, the United States became the World's Principal Superpower with the powerful "Petroleum Dollar", which has given the U.S. our enviable prosperity and wealth. The very clever Communist Chinese are now shrewdly hoarding the world's petroleum, and along with the new "Axis of Evil" consisting of Russia, Iran, Cuba, North Korea, and Venezuela, are planning and plotting to replace U.S. economic dominance (The Petro Dollar) with the Chinese Yuan. If the Chinese Yuan ever replaces the "Petro Dollar" as the World Currency Reserve (which most foreign countries use to trade and satisfy debts), then the United States' standard of living will swiftly decline, and America will soon be heading downward to Third World Banana Republic status.

If the U.S. goes entirely 'Fossil Fuel Free' as the cult-like Climate Change radicals intend, then more than 90% of CO-2 emissions would still occur, because Communist Russia, Communist China, and India are producing most of the present 90% carbon emissions into the Earth's atmosphere.

Finally, in a prospective, future military conflict with the U.S., which military opponent would prevail? U.S. planes, tanks and ships quixotically powered by solar panels and windmills, or Chinese and Russian bombers, tanks and ships powered by hoarded LNG (Liquid Natural Gas) and petroleum?
