'A Spooky Wish' by Irene Edwards.
For Children 8-12 Years.

Book 1 of 3: 'Magic Islands' Series.

Centuries ago, there were a group of mysterious, some say magical islands, which fell victim to a monsters' curse, making them unreachable by sea. The islands were all but forgotten.

But now a group of wicked, exiled Purple Wizards, led by the horrid Izzy Odorous, have found their way to the Magic Islands, and immediately make their evil plans to rule it and its people.

Meanwhile, on a beach in Wales, two friends on a school project have found some very strange items, including a Book of Spells and a magic shell. Wishing they could learn where the items came from, Megan and Stefan are suddenly themselves whisked away to the Magic Islands, where they meet a collection of bizarre characters, including a silly jester, a pair of mean witches, a friendly dragon, a kidnapped king and a powerful, ancient magician. Soon they are all joining forces to stop the Purple Wizards' wicked plan and lift the islands' curse forever – and hopefully get the children back home!

A fun and exciting magical adventure for 8-12-year-olds, with an important environmental message.

Awarded 5 Stars by Editor At Book Marketing Global Network. Magical Read For Children 8-12 Years!

Prologue: Magic Islands (Book One): "Somewhere along the coast of Wales, there once existed a small group of islands. They were mysterious islands, often believed to be magical islands. Some were mountainous and craggy, others only undulated from high to low levels, from hillside to valley.

...The islands had few visitors, for the journeys across the seas to these islands were often treacherous, the seas around them being moody and the pathways unclear.

...It is said many ships had vanished in the rough waters and never returned home to Wales. When ships returned homewards, their sailors refrained from venturing again to the islands for they feared the mighty waves and great anger of the choppy seas.

...Ancient mariners often returned telling mystical and magical tales of having spied from a distance a curious clan of magical dwellers on the islands.

...But there was never any proof of such tales.

...As time went by the islands faded and vanished and the tales of the magical islands were soon forgotten, seemingly forever..."

Forgotten until now! Author Irene Edwards unlocks the mysteries of these fictitious Islands.

Let me quote from Part 11 'A Call for Help':

... "Come on, Megan, let's become invisible."

... "This Magical Enchanted Forest is the strangest of places," Megan glanced through the trees as she spoke. Hundreds of cuckoos called out their cuckoo songs tunefully. The woodpeckers were hammering at branches with their sharp beaks."

..." Rata-tat! Rata-tat! Rata-tat!"

...Above the children's heads, hawks and eagles squawked eerily. But although the forest was oddly noisy, the children became alarmed by the trees, for they were not standing still and rooted, but were moving around in the forest, hovering and swaying, pushing, and shoving, falling, or rushing around in all directions."

... "It would help us if the trees stayed in one place," Stefan said nervously. "How on earth can we keep away from the paths, when the paths keep moving around everywhere?"

My Thoughts: This is a fun read, where character Stefan and Megan make a wish on a Conch shell found on the Welsh coastline. Transported to the 'Magic Islands' by their wish, the storyline and beautiful hand-drawn illustrations come to life on the pages.

Never a dull moment as wizards, witches, elves, dragons, castles, and a magical enchanted forest fills the readers imagination.

Children eight to twelve will enjoy reading with an adult or alone. This book will make a great gift, bedtime story, library book, or a summer reading adventure.

The author's desire to educate children and adults about the preservation of our planet shines through in her books. Irene provides educational guides, free worksheets for classroom and group discussions. (<https://cgofwales.co.uk>)

About Irene Edwards: Irene Edwards is a retired teacher who now writes fantasy fiction for children. As an educator, she taught Primary level in many parts of the UK; London, Essex, Coventry, Midlands, Cardiff, Port Talbot, Swansea, and Carmarthenshire. She then qualified as a Teacher of the Deaf at The Lady

Spencer Churchill College, Oxford, working at first within unit settings and later moving to peripatetic, for schools and clinics. Knowing how important literature and language was to the structure of speech and language development, on retirement she began to research into the imaginary minds of children and their world of literature and writing.
