The Defending Guns by Steven Prevosto.

Western (Historical Fiction).

In 1878 Anthony Augustus Peters was not only skilled in using a gun, he was a rising star in New York City as a very popular Shakespearean actor. However, he had a death wish. And he would die nobly by defending people against violent outlaws populating the booming towns out West where he was taking his theatre company to perform for them.

About The Author: Steven Prevosto's second book is a Young Adult, Coming Of Age novella entitled, Nina's Salvation for Joey, published by World Castle Publishing LLC.

In 1974 twenty-one-year-old Joey Maks' rock band imploded in the Midwest, and the love of his life abandoned him. Depressed and wanting to kill himself, he takes a bus to his Grandmother Nina's house, where he hopes to find his salvation.

Steven's first novel was a Western, The Defending Guns, also published by World Castle Publishing LLC. It received a four-star review: "Something happens on about every page, and I became intrigued on the first page. I had a hard time putting the book down." Bertha Jackson, OnlineBookClub.org.

His Christmas story, Christmas in The City, is published in the 2021 Anthology of Christmas Stories by Texas Sisters Press. His LGBTQ short story, Something Pulled Away, was published in the January 2022 Issue of www.scarletleafreview.com.

He was an actor in New York City for ten years, came home to be a woodworker, then earned his master's degree in education and is currently a Para Educator in English for a local high school. He lives in Carroll County, Maryland with his wife.
